- Vulnerability Assessment

Ground Water

Groundwater is the water found underground in the cracks and spaces in soil, sand and rock. It is stored in and moves slowly through geologic formations of soil, sand and rocks called aquifers

Vulnerability

“Vulnerability” is the degree to which human or environmental systems are likely to experience harm due to perturbation or stress, and can be identified for a specified system, hazard, or group of hazards

Vulnerability Assessment

Groundwater vulnerability assessments often result in a map of areas where the resource is vulnerable to contamination from surface activities. Vulnerability assessments prioritize areas for further investigation, protection, and monitoring.
